County Supervisors
Vaughan to chair board

J. Franklin Vaughan was named chairman of the Appomattox County Board of Supervisors at the board's meeting Friday.

Vaughan, a member of the board since 1976, succeeds Eric R. Lawson, who served five terms as chairman.

Vaughan's first meeting as chairman of the Board of Supervisors was marked with several long-running issues as represented on the Friday agenda.

One problem which has been discussed repeatedly at the Supervisors' meetings again discussed Friday: the lack of funds for road improvements in Appomattox County.

Robert Sumpter, Dept. of Highways and Transportation Civil District Engineer, presented a program for the secondary road improvements for the next three years. The program, which has been discussed repeatedly at the Supervisors' meetings, was again discussed Friday by the Board members who heard a presentation from representatives of the Appomattox Residency.

Vaughan's first meeting as an ordinance would make it chairman of the Board of easier to enforce the state law Supervisors was marked with several long-running issues as represented on the Friday agenda.
